

WILSON WILLING TO TAKE STANDPresident May Ask to Make
Statement in Inquiry
Into Lobbying.

Country his version of the tariff situation and the general legislative situation.

Public Approves of Stand.

It was stated at the White House today that the President was getting large numbers of letters from all over the country approving his attack on the lobby.

Whether, on the heels of the statement of Senator Townsend, backed by Senator Weeks, that the White House club is being used to influence votes on tariff in Congress, Senators are going to be recalled to the stand and asked if they have been subjected to improper White House influence is uncertain.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, last night made a statement in which he adopted that any Senator might recall any witness to the stand and ask about patrimonies, according to Senator Reed, acting chairman of the committee, this puts it up to the Republican members of the committee, Senators Nelson and Cummins, to recall any witness they want to. Senator Reed takes the position that the charges or intimations of Senator Townsend, when sifted, are too vague to be taken as evidence.

Senator Cummins said today he did not intend to recall any Senator to the stand.

"I know nothing about any improper use of patronage," said Senator Cummins.

Senator Reed takes the position that the charges or intimations of Senator Townsend, when sifted, are too vague to be taken as evidence.

"They would not be entertained for a moment in any court of law," said he, referring to the fact that they were hearsay in their nature.

The Missouri Senator disclaimed any belief that the President had used patronage to influence men in Congress. He said Senator Townsend had made no statement of fact.

"Pinned down by Senator Walsh and myself," he said, "the Senator admitted that he had formed a general belief. It is rather a serious charge to make from hearsay."

The Senator declared that the committee at present had no intention of inviting the President to testify before them.

"That is going beyond the purview of our resolution," he said. "We are seeking to find out the existence of a lobby as charged by the President, and I believe we have done it."

Active All Over Country.

A powerful and numerous lobby exists in Washington and is active all over the country. By numerous I do not mean a multitude of people, but a great many who represent mighty interests opposed to the passage of this tariff measure.

If any Republican believes that Democrats are being forced to vote against their consciences through the exertion of party power they are at liberty to tell those Democrats before the committee through their committee minor. If they do not, then they cannot complain.

The work of subpoenaing witnesses who are alleged to have been lobbying went on today. One new name was given out as having been subpoenaed. It was that of Art E. Bowen, of Paris, Tex. He is the chairman of the National Farmers' Union committee who wrote the "Use Strong Language" letter with reference to the greater consumption of cotton. He wanted everybody interested to "use strong language" to members of Congress, Angus E. A. Washington newspaper man, also was subpoenaed.

The committee will ask Mr. Bowen whether he thought this undue influence.

One of the possibilities of the situation is that a movement will be begun for a House investigation of lobbying. Importers' lobbies are said to have exerted influence on the tariff bill. It is being suggested that it would be well to inquire into how far they shaped the Underwood rates.

The investigation will be resumed Monday. The Senate on motion of Senator Reed, in the absence of Senator Overman, granted an extension of twenty days' time to the committee. This carries it to June 23. It may run even longer.

Senator Townsend made his charge yesterday.

Senator Townsend said:

"As the term 'lobbyist' is generally understood, and I believe it was used by the President in his recent statement, upon which this investigation was founded, it means one who tries to secure or prevent legislation by the use of means that are improper; by the offer of payment, money, the granting of patronage, or the giving of political rewards; or by the use of improper lobbyist of that kind."

"While you are wisely inquiring of Senators whether they have been approached by the sugar, wool, cotton and other interests, you should also inquire of them as to just what executive influence is being exerted upon them. It is possible that you might obtain some interesting information if Senators will express themselves before you, as it is rumored they are in private."

"Do you mean to say the President was being lobbied?" asked Senator Reed.

Definition of Lobbyist.

"A lobbyist is a man who attempts to influence legislation against the honest conviction, the conscience, and the notions of duty of the legislator," returned Senator Townsend. "Because of the insinuation that a lobby exists to influence them to vote for amendments they believe in, I think some Senators will refrain from so voting. This, I believe, is coercion."

"You believe there is a species of lobbying from the executive, as well as from the outside?" asked Senator Cummins.

"Yes, I have no doubt of it," answered Senator Townsend. "I do not blame this executive any more than any other. It seems to be rather popular nowadays."

There are two sides to this question. The fact that a man is for protection is not an evidence that he is dishonest, or because he is for free trade that he is honest.
